Welcome to the Health and Wellbeing Employee and Family Resource Guide.

The office of Employee Health and Wellness (EHW) provides oversight and administration of statewide Wellness Programs, Return to Work Services, Workers Compensation, Ergonomics and Substance Abuse Testing. We are committed to providing proactive, accessible, sustainable programs to address health and wellness issues impacting CDCR employees and their families.

The Employee Health and Wellness office recognizes the work done by each of you within our California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation (CDCR) family and we thank you.

The information contained in this guide serves as an overview of the resources that are available to you. Many of these resources are at no cost to you or your families.

Fitness and Health Phone and Tablet/IPAD Applications

Argus – Argus is a fitness tool in your pocket for pretty much anything and everything. It monitors every step, stride, cycle, bite, sip, pound, snore and more. This app is constantly processing your daily routine, giving you feedback that will help you meet your health goals and improve your overall wellbeing.

Calm – Need to take a break? Calm will help you do just that. Whether you need focus, creativity, or a little extra shut eye, Calm offers 50 guided meditations to choose from. You can also sync your meditations with 16 soothing music tracks by meditation musician Kip Mazuy.

Daily Yoga – encourages you to make yoga part of your everyday routine. It'll show you more than 500 asanas in more than 200 yoga, Pilates, and meditation classes. Themed classes include “Mindfulness Everyday” and “Getting Toned.” Combine yoga with other exercises and breathing techniques to get the most out of your practice.

Loselt – This calorie tracking app creates a weight loss plan just for you, depending on what your goals are. Tracking what you eat is easy with the barcode scanner feature implemented in this app, and to add a little competition, the app allows you to create head-to-head, team and group-based challenges.

Mindshift – This app can help you change the way you think about anxiety – rather than trying to avoid the sources of your nerves, you can learn to face them. The app includes strategies for dealing with everyday anxiety, as well as tools to attack specific ones like social anxiety, performance anxiety, worry, panic, and conflict.

NIKE Training Club – This free app offers 100 full-body, 15, 30, and 45 minute workouts complete with step-by-step audio, visual, and video demos. You can tailor the programs to achieve whatever your goals are: getting lean, getting toned, or getting strong. This app goes above and beyond basic instructions to measure your progress in number of workouts, minutes logged, and average calories burned.

RunKeeper – This is an app for everyone who wants to hit the pavement and get some miles in. Runkeeper keeps track of all of your running stats, such as pace, distance, and time, and notifies you of them while you're moving. It organizes all that data into neat graphics for your perusal so you can take control of your fitness.

Shopwell – This app can be your own personal nutritionist, and help you decide which foods meet your dietary needs. Simply scan the barcode of the item, and Shopwell will score the product based on your age, gender, health goals, diet needs, and ingredient and nutrition preferences. Scores range from 00 to 100; the higher numbers indicating healthier goals are met.

Health and Wellbeing Employee and Family Resource Guide

Sleep Cycle – This bio alarm clock analyzes your sleep patterns and wakes you when you're in the lightest sleep phase. This allows you to start the day feeling relaxed and refreshed. Sleep Cycle also allows you to keep track of everyday factors that might be affecting your sleep patterns.

Strava Cycling – Take your exercise and turn it into a game with this app as you challenge other cyclists to rides that will push both of you further. Each time you set a new personal record, you get 'King or Queen of the Mountain' accolades. You can also check in on friends and send them support while they're out chasing their own goals.

Sleep Smarter Resources

Why fix fatigue? Fatigue - that feeling of weariness, tiredness, or lack of energy. Causes include lack of sleep, depression, shift work, sleep apnea, insomnia, and more. If you are constantly pushing through fatigue, you could be reducing your ability to:

- Concentrate
- Handle complex tasks
- Think logically and critically
- Communicate clearly and accurately
- Remember and recall
- Assimilate and analyze new information
- Make good decisions

Perform and execute tasks that require motor function
